

Scouting Program Opportunities

The scouting programs of the Boy Scouts of America offer excellent opportunities for adventure, family fun, friendship, responsibility and service.

Cub Scouts is for boys in the First, Second and Third grades. The boys join a Cub Scout Pack, participate in cub dens based on their grade, and work with their parents and leader to enjoy safe, wholesome activities. Cub Scouting focuses on building character, improving physical fitness, teaching practical skills, and developing a spirit of community service.

Webelos Scouts is for boys in the Fourth and Fifth grades. Still members of a Cub Scout Pack, the Webelos scouts continue the Cub Scout program while exploring more outdoor adventures and preparing to become Boy Scouts.

Boy Scouts is for any boy who is at least 11 years old or has completed Fifth grade. Boy Scouts belong to a Troop, and take part in monthly camping trips and outdoor adventures. The program's objectives are character development, citizenship, and personal fitness. Boys who advance through the program have the opportunity to earn the Eagle Scout rank, one of the highest achievements a young man can accomplish. Several SJB scouts performed their Eagle Scout project to benefit St. John the Baptist Parish and School.
